

Philadelphia Museum of Art - Education Department

Reinventing the permanent collection for either child or adult public and diverse audience

Philadelphia Museum of Art - Education Department (USA): the Division of Education of the Philadelphia Museum of Art relates, through interpretation, the Museum's collections and its commitment to their preservation, study and display, to the needs and interests of a diverse audience. The department has developed nationally and internationally recognized programs for children, families, teachers, adult learners, and special audiences alike.

Project author or developer:
Philadelphia Museum of Art

Where:
US / United States / Philadelphia

Website:
www.philamuseum.org

