

15-M Los Indignados

Getting inspired by the book «Indignez-vous !» of Stephane Hessel, the Spanish youth occupy places all over Spain to protest

The 2011–2012 Spanish protests, also referred to as the 15-M Movement and the Indignants movement are a series of ongoing demonstrations in Spain whose origin can be traced to social networks and Real Democracy NOW (Spanish: Democracia Real YA) among other civilian digital platforms and 200 other small associations. The series of protests demands a radical change in Spanish politics, as protesters do not consider themselves to be represented by any traditional party nor favoured by the measures approved by politicians. According to statistics published by RTVE, the Spanish public broadcasting company, between 6.5 and 8 million Spaniards have participated in these protests.

Project author or developer:
15-M Los Indignados

Where:
ES / Espagne / Madrid

Website:
www.democraciarealya.es/

