

Skype (Sweden/USA) is a proprietary voice-over-Internet Protocol service and software application originally created by Niklas Zennström and Janus Friis in 2003, and owned by Microsoft since 2011. Skype allows the registered users to communicate through both instant messaging and voice chat or through videoconference. Skype made possible the free videochat between people in different countries and the very popular use of the videoconference in the usual work office.

Project author or developer:
Skype

Where:
US / Åtats-Unis / New York

Website:
www.skype.com

