The first and only college entirely focused on preparing graduates for careers in the fields of renewable energy and sustainability

Ecotech Institute in Aurora, Colorado (Denver metro area) is the first and only college entirely focused on preparing graduates for careers in the fields of renewable energy, sustainability, and energy efficiency. The Clean Jobs Index is a first-of-its-kind, comprehensive and objective database that provides information, via interactive maps, on clean jobs and other sustainability factors that affect the U.S. Some of these factors include: renewable energy consumption, state incentives, LEED projects, air quality and alternative fueling stations
