The Office of Campus and Community Sustainability at UMass Dartmouth, otherwise known as the Sustainability Office, organizes intellectual working space for the vibrant, disparate, network of interests and activities related to sustainability that exists on campus and in the region. Our primary goals are to assist with sustainability efforts in operations on the campus, establish academic programs that advance the knowledge of sustainability, increase the grants funds and research opportunities awarded to the University and forge community partnerships. We spark regional conversations and events spotlighting sustainable practices and technologies.
