Fraser Riverkeeper (FRK) is dedicated to the protection, conservation, and improvement of the water quality and fish habitat of the River

Fraser Riverkeeper (FRK) is dedicated to the protection, conservation, and improvement of the water quality and fish habitat of the Fraser River and its watershed, including the waters of the Georgia Strait and the Burrard Inlet. Located in Vancouver, B.C., Canada, our organization was launched in 2004 under the leadership of renowned environmental advocate and seasoned prosecutor Doug Chapman. FRK acts as investigator, scientist, educator, lawyer, and advocate for the river, committed to protecting the Fraser River salmon and the public right to swimmable, drinkable, fishable water. Fraser Riverkeeper is a non-profit registered charity in Canada, and is a licensed member of the international Waterkeeper Alliance.
