Relief to Self Reliance will expand employment opportunities, strengthen local economic and cultural activity and promote sustainability

Relief to Self Reliance, a project involving Andaman Discoveries as one of the partners, will expand employment opportunities, strengthen local economic and cultural activity and promote sustainable resource management through community-based tourism (CBT) in an area of Thailand severely impacted by the 2004 Tsunami. The initiative currently works with three villages on the North Andaman coast. The partnership's aims are to increase the number of customers and activities offered, ultimately transforming from a non-profit organisation into a self-sustaining business.
