Guiding Hope is looking to establish an environmentally and socially responsible, fair trade in apiculture products by up-scaling the market

Guiding Hope is looking to establish an environmentally and socially responsible, fair trade in apiculture products by up-scaling the marketing and production of honey and wax. Guiding Hope plans to expand small-scale production of organic, fair-trade honey from the remote Adamoua savannah and NorthWest highlands to reach international markets and to become Cameroon's largest exporter of high quality beeswax, as well as building an international market chain for community-owned soap- and candle-making businesses.
