

Two Degrees Food

For every food bar sold, 2 Degrees delivers a nutrition pack to a malnourished child

Project author or developer:
Will Hauser and Lauren Walters

Where:
US / Stati Uniti / San Francisco County

Website:
twodegreesfood.com/

At 2 Degrees Food, we believe that your everyday purchase choices have a big impact. Instead of grabbing just any snack, you can now choose one that feeds your hunger and helps do the same for a hungry child.

That's the power of the Buy-One-Give-One model: For every 2 Degrees bar you buy, we feed a hungry child.

Our gluten free and vegan snack bars are loaded with healthy grains, fruits and toasted nuts that will keep you going all day.

Our mission is to empower you to help us feed 200 million hungry children. The distance between you and a hungry child may seem far, but you're only two degrees away.

Here at 2 Degrees, we purchase nutrient rich meals and medically formulated nutrition packs. Whenever possible, these are produced locally in the region they will be distributed -- in this way, the purchase you make of one 2 Degrees bar also supports local economies. Our production partners, like Valid Nutrition, hire local labor and source most ingredients from local farmers. We have a network of non-profit partners in developing countries. Each of these organizations has dedicated distribution channels for meals through health clinics, schools, and community groups in areas where children are suffering from chronic hunger or malnutrition. By donating one locally produced meal for each 2 Degrees bar purchased, we at 2 Degrees help these organizations to provide needed meals to children.

To date, we have donated regionally produced and under-supplied meals to children in Haiti, India, Kenya, Malawi and Somalia through Action Against Hunger, Akshaya Patra, IMA World Health, Partners in Health, Relief International and Valid Nutrition.

